Preacher Returns Home.

Rev. A. R. Spicer, who preached at the Christian church several Sundays prior to the arrival of Rev. Byron Hester, passed through Chickasaw this morning on his way to his home in Oklahoma City, after a short vacation in Lawton.

Boys Arrested.

Jack and Rube Cheaney were arrested yesterday afternoon at the instance of a member of the high school faculty on the charge of trespassing on high school grounds and molesting pupils during the noon hour. The case was tried by Mayor Coffman this morning and was taken under advisement.

Symphony Concert.

What is pronounced to be the best symphony engagement which the O. C. W. has ever had, played to a crowded house last night when a most interesting program consisting exclusively of classical selections was rendered by the Zedler sextette. This musical aggregation consists of a vocalist, two violins, a cello, a piano and an organ.

The splendid rendition of a high class program met with enthusiastic response.

Arrive in Panama.

A. Lewis, of the local cigar manufacturing company has received a letter from his daughter who was married here October 3rd to Chas. W. Roberts, electrical supervisor on the Gatun locks at Gatun, Panama, saying they had safely arrived and had enjoyed the ocean trip. On arriving at Gatun they were met by some of the members of the Bachelors Quarters where Mr. Roberts had resided and were taken to the quarters for dinner. They were then escorted to their own department.

ANTELOPE CHASING BY AUTO IS LATEST SPORT

By United Press.

Slim Butte, S. D., Nov. 3.—No antelope is able to keep ahead of one of those little cars that keeps running right along. This demonstration by John Raney, farmer, was on record today. Raney was driving on a road through a woods. An antelope crossed his path. He speeded ahead. The antelope kept down the middle of the road. After an eight mile chase, at break neck speed, the antelope fell, exhausted. The animal was captured and penned.

RENTAL OF OPEN-FACED SUITS NOW GOES UP

By United Press.

New York, Nov. 3.—Joining in with the increasing cost of living, loving and dying, the cost of society is now about to advance—a dress suit combine is in the making and if put through will spell ruin to many a socially inclined but sweated gallant.

Heretofore the rental of a "two-tailed tormentor and trimmings" has stood at $1.50 per night. Part of the time the owning company, when it did

BIG CIRCUS IS HERE AND SMALL BOY IS READY FOR IT

All of Chickasaw appeared to be in the streets this morning when the circus parade passed by. The sidewalks were lined with kiddies and their parents and those who were fortunate enough to locate on stoops and in windows along the line of the parade added to the multitude. The parade itself was more glittering than ever. It was fully three miles in length and its six bands, calliope and steam piano, its newly gold-plated wagons, its animals, floats, allegorical wagons and all the rest gave a teasing glimpse of what the first performance this afternoon was to be. It started amazed that his father and mother and little sister can walk calmly to the scene instead of running as his small feet want to. But he'll get there at last and his anxiety will be over when he discovers that pa hasn't lost the tickets or that they really have some left to sell. Then for the lions and tigers, then for the elephants and camels, the baby giraffes, lions, camels, the human freaks of nature, the big bag of peanuts and the seat. He'll stare at the glittering wonder of the original program, depicting "Persia—or the Pageants of the Thousand and One Nights," and he'll know that the lady seated in the throne on the first elephant's back is a sure enough princess bent to the circus by her father in a far off land. The clowns will come out and make him laugh so hard that he'll forget all about his dream prince cess of three minutes ago, and then the flashes of white and pink silk 'way up near the pinnacle of one of the tent's poles will make him forget the fifty clowns while his mouth opens wide and his eyes bulge at the gyrations of those human birds, flying through space and catching with sure accuracy the swinging trapeze, their only refuge from the net below. And all the while he'll be trying to see what the other trapeze men and women are doing high above the next ring.

Then will come the performing rats and cats and he'll wonder why the dickens the cats don't get to work on their usual meal. He'll see birds perform on bicycles, jump through flaming hoops, and turn somersaults, bears that go on roller skates and ride a bicycle; the clowns will come out with new stunts and make him laugh all over again and he'll ask himself if he couldn't learn to dance on a white horse's back as those beautiful ladies and white beighted men do. He'll pick out the winner of the horse race and he won't even know that he's tired and ready for bed until he's out of the tent and tugging at his father's coat to urge a visit to the side show which, in some cases, will be refused because he has to get up early tomorrow morning or father does, or something or other which doesn't appear valid just then.

And Johnny and all his friends will dream tonight of the glories of the East or the fun of the clowns and tomorrow morning they'll go out around the lot and find nothing but sawdust left, which they will kick about as they walk to see if they can't find a diamond ring, a necklace of pearls or a cent or at 10 o'clock this morning from the circus lot near the Rock Island and as the brilliant cavalcade passed each block along the route, that block was soon deserted, the crowd hurrying home to prepare for the afternoon performance or to rest before the up-lateness of the evening show.

The big show landed in town about dawn this morning and was unpacked and settled on the circus lot. The big top was up before the parade started and everything was in readiness before it returned. There was a crowd in front of the ticket wagon long before the time for opening the gates and impatient boys and girls, young and old, waited for the first glimpse of the menagerie of wild and rare animals. Little Johnny, who wasn't to go until pa came home from work tonight, was on the grounds getting all of the atmosphere his small system could absorb and if he lifted the edge of the animal tent and stole one little look

PREPAREDNESS!

Preparedness from a military standpoint as it regards the welfare of a nation would not be worth an effort, if GOOD HEALTH WERE NOT A PLEDGE OF PERFORMANCE. GOOD HEALTH IS THE FUNDAMENTAL PREPAREDNESS FOR ALL HUMAN EFFORT, whether directed in the defense of a country, or applied in the pursuit of peaceful vocations. We can accomplish little indeed without health. The best way to keep health, is not to lose it. S.S.S. IS THE NATIONAL MEDICAL PREPAREDNESS AGAINST ITS LOSS. S.S.S. will root these out-laws against your health, from the trenches of your blood, and leave you victorious against their invasion. If a druggist should offer you a substitute for S.S.S. do NOT accept it. There is nothing made that in any way compares with it. WRITE TO-DAY FOR FREE BOOKS ON BLOOD AND SKIN DISEASES. Or—direct to our MEDICAL ADVISORY DEPARTMENT, for free advice.
